The daisies on the top move when the swing moves. The sense of wonder in this is an irresistible motivation for the child to investigate. The sturdy rubber seat is placed in the exact right height for a child to lean in and lie on the stomach. This serves two purposes: the child can swing and swing independently. When the child push with the feet, the swing movement starts and trains the child's motor skills, specifically the sense of balance and space. Furthermore, the understanding of cause and effect has a great impact on the thinking and cognitive skills of the child. The emotional value of being able to manage independently is priceless for toddlers and stimulates their self esteem and widens their physical comfort zone. Parents, older siblings and friends can easily join the fun.

The overall framework applied for these factors is the Environmental Product Declaration (EPD), which quantifies "environmental information on the life cycle of a product and enable comparisons between products fulfilling the same function" (ISO, 2006). This follows the structure and applies a Life-Cycle Assessment approach to the entire Product stage from raw material through manufacturing (A1-A3))
