The water channel is a playground classic that will inspire children for hours of fun sand play, again and again. The Water Channel allows for materials to be held, stored or transported through the half pipe. This is a fantastic support for explorative play and children's cognitive and creative skills. With room for many children the water channel invites cooperation, negotiation and the child's social-emotional development. Getting children to negotiate is hard to teach, but easily achieved with sand play at the Water Channel.

Water channel

Social-Emotional: children cooperate and communicate from both ends when running water through the channel. Cognitive: supports logical thinking and cause and effect understanding when children wait for the water to run through.

The overall framework applied for these factors is the Environmental Product Declaration (EPD), which quantifies "environmental information on the life cycle of a product and enable comparisons between products fulfilling the same function" (ISO, 2006). This follows the structure and applies a Life-Cycle Assessment approach to the entire Product stage from raw material through manufacturing (A1-A3))
